RAD (Rapid Application Development) is a software development methodology that emphasizes quick development and iteration of prototypes over strict planning and long development cycles. It's ideal for projects where requirements evolve through user feedback and where fast delivery is important.

Key Characteristics of RAD:

- Focus on prototypes instead of extensive documentation
- User involvement throughout the development process
- Fast development cycles with frequent iterations
- Reusable components to reduce effort
- Best suited for UI/UX-intensive projects like web and mobile apps

Phase 1: Requirements Planning

The goal is to build a food ordering mobile application.

Key Features

Navigation:

- Home
- Categories
- Food Listings
- Food Details
- Cart
- Checkout
- Order Confirmation

User Actions:

- Browse food

- Search items
- Add to cart
- Place order
- Track order

Requirements

1. View food categories
2. View food items under categories
3. View detailed food information
4. Add/remove items in cart
5. Enter delivery and payment details
6. View order confirmation

Phase 2: User Design

Wireframes Designed

- Home Page: Shows popular food and search bar
- Categories: Displays food categories
- Food Listing: Shows list of items
- Food Details: Displays food info with add to cart
- Cart: Shows selected items
- Checkout: Enter address and payment
- Order Confirmation: Success message

Tools Used

- Figma (for UI design)
- Axure RP (for prototype interaction)
